Studio Improvisation

An improvised noisy live stream from the studio, using a bunch of old and new analog signal generators and electronics, mixed and spatialized in various free software tools, including SuperCollider and Puredata.

Finally I can use all the stuff without moving it to another location!

Henrik von Coler